

Notice of Cruise
Pacific Northwest Station
September 11 – 17, 2025

Cruise Chair: Stacey Wilson email: wwisail2@msn.com

The cruise committee of the Pacific Northwest Station invites you to our Fall Cruise in the San Juan Islands. We would like to welcome you to our “Backyard” and sincerely hope you will leave here with a real appreciation of what we call home.

The archipelago consists of hundreds of islands with many delightful, protected anchorages in area of about 900 square miles on the border of the United States and Canada. Jumping off points, Anacortes and Bellingham are 90 minutes north of Seattle and 90 minutes south of Vancouver.

We'll begin on Thursday September 11th in Sucia Island's Echo Bay, just a few hours sail from the ports of Anacortes and Bellingham. The week's events will take us to Orcas Island's West Sound and to San Juan Island's Westcott Bay before returning to the mainland on Wednesday, September 17th for the end-of-cruise dinner at Semiahmoo Resort. Our club's Fall Meeting will begin Thursday, September 18 at the resort.

About the Charter Organizations

Be sure to make your charter reservations as early as possible. At least two of the charter organizations have indicated somewhat limited boat availability due to existing cruises already scheduled for early-to-mid September 2025. Additionally, all of the charter organizations usually charter their boats with a Saturday departure and Friday return. That said, all of the organizations are willing to entertain pickup/return days other than those posted. However, two of the charter organizations will only do so on a case-by-case basis. Fleet discounts are available from at least two of the three charter organizations provided that a threshold minimum number of boats are chartered through them.
